This is another post from the Suggest a Topic page, and while the original comment had a lot of questions about the overall functioning of an economy, I thought I'd take one question from it, and try and answer that in a post.. Why can't a country print money and become rich? A lot of people have this misconception that a country's currency is backed by the gold it holds.

Fiat money is a currency without intrinsic value that has been established as money, often by government regulation. Fiat money does not have use value, and has value only because a government maintains its value, or because parties engaging in exchange agree on its value. It was introduced as an alternative to commodity money and representative money. ...
