All types of dragons can produce half-dragon offspring, but some dragons have no interest in doing so, and actively avoid it. This is the case of most chromatics and gems dragons. Other dragons are simply too rare to produce a significant quantity of half-dragons, this is the case of the platinum, adamantine, and radiant dragons.

The dragons are miscellaneously placed in the Dragon Manual instead of being listed in classes. In the short film, Book of Dragons there is an unknown dragon with many eyes and reef-like spines and horns, resembling a Red Death. The Dragon Manual is possibly the franchise's version of How to Train Your Dragon.

dragons in North America today were bred from beardies that were smuggled out of Australia from 1970-1990. As the bearded dragon's popularity grew, selective breeding began among bearded dragon owners. Now there are so many bearded dragons being bred that the demand for smuggled bearded dragons declined significantly after the early 1990's.
